FAME OF PALM SPRINGS IS SPREADING FAST

When I mentioned Palm Springs while traveling about the country a few years ago most people asked if it was in Floida; probably confused it with Palm Beach. Not so any more. Almost everyone seems to know something about California. What part of California is not so well known.

First comment is something about movie people who visit and live here: in one of these is considered to be a Radio and TV have put this community on the map as almost nothing else could have done in such a short length of ity outside of Hollywood - where few movie people live any more.

People I meet recall that this desert Farrell's TV program last summer, more fame to the name, even if the locale wasn't typical of the place.

Golf Courses Also Helped

Our golf courses have also played an important part in bringing Palm Springs into the limelight as one of the nation's Palm Springs and that it is located in famed resorts. Quite often I meet men at Rotary Club meetings who say with pride they have played on Thunderbird, Tamarisk or O'Donnell. A membership mark of distinction.

The nationally known tournaments which are being played on these courses time. We get more publicity from this have made this area popular with golfsource than almost any other commun- ers all over the country. This resort is now just about as well known as any other on the winter golf circuit.

The Nehrul Know From Personal Interviews

I have talked privately with Prime Minister Nehru many times in New Delhi in the past few years—and plan to see him Nehru many again this summer on my regular assignment around-the-world. I know members of his family, some of his close friends and asciates well enough to gather a third dimension about this most controversial man. I have talked with businessmen, educators, students in India about him. He represents many different things to so many people inside India . . . and a con-glomeration of things outside In-For without doubt Nehru is the most liked, as well as disliked, world personality I know.

JAWAHARLAL NEHRU is an impressive man. He has mental stature-half scholarly, half poolitical. When you talk to him, he listens quietly and digests ev-ery word you say. He raises his hand from across the desk in a gesture just before he speaks, but it's often at least a minute before the words come out.

That minute of silence is like hanging from your fingers over a cliff. But it indicates a depth and dimension not common among political leaders, whose answers are usually on the tip of the tongue.

NEHRU EXPRESSES a compulsion to give advice on any-thing—and does—from birth control to the Baghdad pact. At almost 67 he is looked upon by India's 305 million Hindus, 36 million Moslems and 7 million Sikhs more as a spiritual (darshan) adviser than political leader, which

He is literally the opium of the Indian masses—and they are his. Nehru not only has no religion, but he openly attacks India's most cherished belief, Hinduism, as a "terrible thing that enslaves the person.' Nehru has disagreed more than agreed with Gandhi, the man ost responsible with influencing his political life. Nehru was practicing law at his native Allahabad when he met Gandhi-and "revolution"-and later spent 14 years in a British prison with His wife Kamala (who died in 1936 after repeated imprison-ments) joined him in the movement for independence.

THE RISING TIDE of national ism brought Nehru to Gandhi and the "revolutionary" (but no-violence) politics of the Indian National Congress party. no two leaders on the same road to independence could be more diverse than the scholarly dynamic Nehru and the slow-moving frail little Mahatma Gandhi.

Dedicated through experience in industrial England, could scarcely agree with the distrust of machine civilization which Gandhi symbolized by advocating the "everlasting use of the divine spinning-wheel, However, in prison with Gandhi he discovered the "pains" of his beloved India. In prison the shrewd and methodical "Gandhi-ji" trained his protege to lead the fight which he probably knew would not succeed with passive

WHEN YOU LISTEN to Nehru discuss the "pains of India," to which he refers repeatedly, he drives home the appalling job on his hands to bring relief to his unfortunate people. "Eighty-five per cent of our people are illiterate," he informs you, "with a per capita income, of less than $60 a year. Some 70 million are without a job of any kind, drifting from hunger to starvation around the clock."

Since his wife died 21 years ago, when he was only 46. Nehru appears a very lonely man. He lives with his charming daugh-Indira, and her two sons in a sumptuous 20-room residence ce occupied by the commander of Britain's Indian army. Nehru starts the day at 6 a.m. with minutes of yoga exercies and winds up by standing on his head. "It-clears my mind and increases my sense of humor," he said to us one day. NEHRU IS A very outspoken . with public denunciations in parliament against drinking, cocktail parties, frivolity and even astrology, which the masses believe in. "Astrology," he blurted out one day, "is worse than nonsense. It's degrading." Nehru's popularity in India is more surprising when you analyze the great gulf which separates him from India's masses: his wealthy heritage, his education in England, his training his lack of interest or support in India's way of life.

"You are a bunch of ignorants with cow-dung minds, living in a cow-dung world all of your own making," he admonished a mass gathering in Bombay. The cheers that followed his speech were those of hero-worship and nothing else, for most of his listeners do not understand a word he says.

THERE ARE IMMENSE prob-India. There are 15 distinct languages, some 200 dialects and fa natical superstitions deep rooted in the masses to the point of hopelessness. The religious hatred between Hindus, Moslems and Sikhs boils constantly. India's 50 million untouchables are ledger of modern history.

clamations in New Delhi. This caste discrimination in India is worse than the most fanatical Negro prejudice in Southern U.S.A. The 25 million colored Tamils accuse the more fair-skinned northerners of persecution because of their color.

Nehru saved India from Communism when he incorporated some 550 princely states which Britain allowed to fester in me dieval autonomy. India's first free election in the late 40's was the world's largest and it staved off Communist party efforts to win control of the provincial government. Another year of feudalism and India probably would have gone the way of China.

INDIA'S POPULATION grows Birth control is frustrated by i literacy. Nehru is losing ground by his inability to cope with the roblem of local language loyal-

Some 33 million Indians, who speak Teluga, want autonomy around a new state of Andhra. Other language groups riot con-stantly with the support of Communists, as was the case in the incidents. Nehru said to me one day, "is by far our greatest enemy.

Nehru's 'friendliness toward Russia and China is probably based on his olf Fabian Socialist training in England and the expltation of his student days when the 1917 Russian revolution introduced "the great Socialist era of our time," as he refers to it.

TO AN EQUAL degree Nehru's policty toward the U.S. is probaport of Britain while he was in , and our sale of arms to Pakistan, "brining war to In-dia's door." Nehru's often re-peated "impartiality" is not borne out by the facts: When Communists visit New Delhi, the Nehru posters read "Russia-China and India are brothers Western officials are greeted with History cannot at this juncture accurately balance its ledger on Jawaharlal Nehru. India is more united today without a serious nist threat, as was the case 10 years ago. Nehru's intencies are no more or less than those of more popular lead-

Nehru is unquestionably today the dominant figure among some 13 Asia nations with 650 million people, which won their independence during and since World War II. This alone has earned him an important entry in the Belatedly, I give voice to the biggest news of the week. And I understand I am so late that ground has already been broken for the quarterhorse race track near Rancho Mirage.

So by 1958 they'll be breaking from the gate.

Bubble, bubble, toil and Hope they have a Daily

Double While in the rhyming mood would like to add that, if you are an expert judge of horse flesh as I am, that when the track is per, completion rhymes with depletion.

WOULDN'T YOU KNOW that it would happen! Thursday I wrote a little so-called verse about the gremlins which slip into a newspaper shop and cause errors after everybody has tried so hard to make it perfect.

And then in the next to the last line of that piece which started out with a thought on typographical mishaps, there was one My own name, yet. Spelled

Thursday comes the annual spaghetti dinner of Palm Springs Eodge, 1905 day to recuperate, comes the annual Fish Fry of the local fire department. That's on Saturday

Can recall the first Fish Fry I attended here. About 15-16 years ago. The site was at a spot on the reservation. Therefore, according to the law-no potables. But that didn't deter the boys with a thirst. Just across Palm Canyon Drive was territory uninhaibited by law.

AND IN RETWEEN mouthfuls of tasty fish, corn and all of the other accessories of the very good dinner, they dodged across the street and into the thickets for a quick belt.

Fortunately, it was nearing mer and traffic wasn't as thick as it is now. So there were no casualties other than those induced by what they went after. Incidentally, there are no thickets in that neighborhood now. It's up solid with apartment houses and restaurants

THERE ARE TWO signs along Highway 99 north and west of here which arouse my curiosity. One advertises a cemetery "overlooking a beautiful valley." Seems to me that the permanent residents of the place wouldn't be interested in the view. The other concerns the longest sale on record, as far as I can I have travelled Highway 99 for a good many years and in all of that time, that cactus shop at Ca-

New Book Needed

My good deed for this day is a gratis presentation of a million dollar idea to Amy Vanderbilt and her host of imitators. etiquette authorities, in their eagerness to transform us into a ation of Fauntleroys and Miss Prisses, have somehow overlooked a virgin territory ripe for their

The ladies have prescribed the ground rules for every social con-tingency from apple bobbing to zebra hunting, but they have let their public down woefully on a "Book of Etiquette As She Is Practiced in Hollywood."

THERE IS a crying - well, maybe, a screaming - need for such a tome. Such a volume, if written by Mme. Fearless Fair-less, would clear up the justifi-able confusions that assail the civilian or non-Hollywood mind when Miss Shelley Winters, the inflammable Bernhardt of the creen, and her fiance. Anthony Franciosa (who is incadescent on his own), became entangled with (1) a news photographer and (2)

The nuances of Hollywood social usage and the delicate shadings of custom in the cinema capital are splendidly illustrated by this fracas — and also the necessity of a book that will explain these tribal taboos to out-

TO BEGIN WITH, Miss Winters and Franciosa have made no secret of their betrothal in any gossip, Broadway or theatre column which would print the word. Nor has the phrase "Postively Top Secret" been stamped on the news that they would be wedded once the fiance was divorced by Editor, The Desert Sun:

Furthermore, Miss Winters has never shown any more repugnance to being photographed by the press than, say, Jayne Mans-So when Miss Winters and her fiance went publicly and to-Building in Los Angeles to make an open and public bid on a home in Beverly Hills, a news photo-grapher started to make a routine picture of the pair.

GRIN AND BEAR IT

THIS IS WHERE the plot thickens and confusion reigns for us barbarians beyond the hills of Hollywood. The attempt to take a picture of Miss Winters and ranciosa together obviously fractured a strictly cinema social aboo. It caused Franciosa to fall upon the photographer and aim a placekick at his groin. And caused the law to jail Franciosa

We can't have our pictures taken. He is still getting a di-vorce," screamed Miss Winters. "He doesn't want to be photo graphed because he doesn't want any scandal.

(Sure enough, Franciosa was getting a divorce, on that very day. Or rather, his wife received such a decree in Reno.)

ANYWAY, THERE you have the epitome of the delicate social usages that make Hollywood a trap for the unwary and a book of etiquette a necessity. Appar one of the basic rules says that if one is engaged to a man in the process of getting a divorce, it is all right to say it in would constitute scandal

Of course, any book of etiquette is one-tenth politesse and ninetenths anthropology. So my non inee as the author to tackle Hollywood's etiquette probl thropologist Margaret Mead. Had a long conversation with Lenny, the half-witted brother in the play "Of Mice and Men." He is better known today as Broderick Crawford, star in the TV series: "Highway Patrol." As a matter of fact, I learned that Crawford owns part of the BRODERICK Crawford graduated from Harvard with a degree in engineering at the very height of the depression. At this point I would like to jump for-ward to World War II and I'll betcha few knew that this man with a college degree in engineering served as a doughboy in the European Theater of Operations as a GI master sergean Why didn't you stick to engineering? we asked.

"WELL, BILL," Broderick replied, "It was the height of the depression and a man couldn't get a job digging a ditch for as little as a dollar a day. I turned to the stage.'

The stage, as time has indicated, certainly was Mr. Crawford's forte. His mother and dad had been in vaudeville and toured most of the famed circuits of those days. Broderick first stepped out on the boards in front of an audience at the age of seven. When vaudeville started gasping for breath about 1929 or '30, Helen, the mother, hit the legitimate stage on Broadway in a play called "Fifty Million Frenchmen Can't Be Wrong.

BRODERICK KEPT making the rounds on Broadway, and when he landed the part of Lenny playing opposite Wally Ford, one might say it was the be ginning for both of these talented actors. In 1938 Broderick, because of his strong characterization of Lenny, landed in Holly-I've seen Crawford about Palm

EARL WILSON: A Lesson for Men

NEW YORK - Miss Julie Wilson, sewer-worker (night club entertainer) and Broadway stage beauty, has suddenly become a TV personality and mov-ie star — simply because a guy came back, he yelled. They also named Sam Spiegel knows how to be charming to women Listen, you men; there's a lesson in this for us.

One night some months ago this man Spiegel, who got the Os-car for "Waterfront" & few seasons back, invited Julie to have supper with him after she finished playing the lead in "Pa-

"Well, why not a part for me?" she exclaimed. "I'm unknown!" "Oh, everybody knows you, darling!" Sam Jifted his glass to her. "The only part left is so little you wouldn't like it."

So, of course, when he said that. Julie determined to get that part. Spiegel casually said he didn't know whether the director, Jacy Garfein, husband of Carroll ("Baby Doll") Baker, would want her in it " "GARFEIN CAME to see me and I read for the part." Julie remembers. "He said to me. 'You'd be wonderful — I'm amazed at the perception of Mr. But for 3 months after than, her behalf that he arranged for Julie to get out of "Pajama Game" to make the picture. The agent then called Spiegel.

"I don't know whether I want her or not," Spiegel said, "but is she available?"

More weeks of silence pass-ed. Julie heard that somebody else had got the part. Then one day Spiegel phoned and blusteringly asked if she could report in Winter Park, Fla., the next day. He pretended to be amazed that she didn't know she had the part. "Jack Garfein wants me to be a blonde." Julie said.

He will candidly answer any question as he did those that I threw at him. However, after answering two or three of them he asked me:

"IF YOU ARE going to write a story about me, and I do not know why you should, please eliminate two or three of his answers. How can you refuse a man like that? Anyway, Broderick, you've been a favorite entertainer in my book for a long time and I know you must be in the books of thousands of others as well.

Saw the colored motion pictures telling the story of Palm Springs, which were taken by the Hertz Corporation. A copy of this picturization was given to the Palm Springs Chamber of Commerce and believe me, it can be used to great advantage in selling our desert. Thanks Ed McCoubrey, for inviting me to the Racquet Club where the movies were shown and a delightful buffet served to more than 75 persons.

WHILE THERE I met Joseph J. Stedem, executive vice president of Hertz Corporation, whose offices are in Chicago, Ill. Memories came flooding back in our conversation of Johnny Hertz, the founder to the vast organization today. Johnny, as every one referred to him in Chicago, started hustling newspapers on Loop corners and in those days if you were not able to use your dukes but good, some other and tougher kid would have the spot. Johnny Hertz went from that business into the Yellow Cab business which we all know he started. From that he branched into Yellow Manufacturing, construction of buses. I believe the latter concern now belongs to General Motors. Johnny Hertz, who hired Sted-

And Droodles do just that! Only last week I recoved a nice letter from a man in Texas who recently became an Active Droodler. He said that previous-ly he had been one of those Millionaires and owned Oil Wells, a Ranch, Two Cadillac Cars, Twelve Celevision Sets and a Mink Shoe Shine Box, but he didn't find true happiness until he started Drood-ling. I'd tell you his name but un-fortunately he only signed the letter with his Initials, B-UM.

NEW YORK (UP)-Don Hoak of the Cincinnati Redlegs, with all his old hustle and a league-leading .396 batting average to boot, is thankful he heeded manager Birdie Tebbetts' advice to "stop trying to hit like a big man.

Tebbetts convinced Hoak in spring training that he should cut down on his swing and shoot for singles and doubles instead of making those futile lunges for home runs which seldom came. Hoak took Birdie's advice and switched to a new batting stance which he credits for his excellent season's start.

Figures bear out Hoak's success with his new stance. His 19 hits include two home runs and five doubles, he has driven in 13

I can teach an average child or adult (3 to 60 years) as demonstrated for the World Press, 1917, to swim one to seven milles in only three months. I will let you bet me 10,000 to a million I can't. Want to bet? The hair-fol likes it to And if you are a parent you can appreciate it for this reason, your children won't have to swim face down the rest with the wreeks and ruiss the sinuses, lungs and bronchial tubes.

Chemically treated water when excessively absorbed will cause a polio-like fover. I could give you a million dollars more advice but it costs to tell you these things. And it would be a good thing for editors to tell their subscribers as a humanitarian act.

After learning the semi-crawl very well, I can make an easy 15-minute ad-justment and then you become one of the most graceful crawl swimmers too. But don't train on the crawl stroke, or use it too often as it wrecks the fig-ure. And then too, your face will, he down in the deadly chemicals and germs like those who learn face-down.

The face-down teaching method was not invented by a top coach, it was invented by an old woman born shout 1823 who sold her old-fashioned way of teaching to a group of elderly women who formed the Red Cross long age.

My rates as a personal coach for hire for face-up semi-crash are: week-ends $125 and up: equal to a thousand ordinary face down lessons; weekly, $175 and up; monthly $5000; seasonal, $3000 and up. Weskends and weekly, $1000 and up.

elieve in the power of prayer, but the prayers which are effect tive, no matter whose prayers they may be, are effective be-cause they embody certain universal principles which, when understood, can be consciously used. "If ye abide in me and my words abide in you, ye shall ask what ye will and it shall be done unto you," Christ Jesus.

THIS STATMENT gives great ing the answering of prayer. Abiding in Him means having no con sciousness separate from His consciousness, nothing in our though which denies the power and pres-ence of Spirit. The Science of Mind teaches that the Universal Spirit, which is God, operates through a Universal Mind, which

It is the Law of Gour thought and acts upon it. It is the Law of Gour thought and acts upon it. It is the Law of Gour thought and the Law of Gour thoug which receives the direct impress of our thought and acts upon it. It teaches that the Life of man is God and that this Life is eterna eternal Loving-kindness and Givingness to all.

THIS IS THE gist of the sermon to be given on the subject "The Prayer that Cannot Fail" at El Paseo Theater Sunday morning at 10:45, by the Rev. Irma Glen. A period of healing meditation through music is held pre-ceding the service, the Sunday School and Junior Church are held at the same time in the north end of the El Paseo Building.

Midweek classes in Religious Science, its theory and practice, are held in the minister's home at 1110 Buena Vista Dr. on Thursday evenings at 8, and Fridays from
